FUNERAL HELD SUNDAY.

George Pratt, Prominent Citizen of Berlin, Laid at Rest.

The funeral of George Pratt, Berlin's road superintendent and one of her most prominent citizens, was held from his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Donald Fraser, pastor of the Congregational church of Berlin, officiating. He paid a merited tribute to the deceased as a citizen and of the town, and a good man in the family. The bearers were Edward and Jesse Pratt, nephews of the deceased, Irving Willey, Wm. Quillen, Hubbard Josephine and Thomas Herbert. The interment was in the Berlin Corners cemetery.

Mr. Pratt was highly respected in Berlin, and for years was the road commissioner of the town. He was a bachelor and always lived on the home place. Mr. Pratt's father died when the former was a young man, and he took care of his mother until her death about nine years ago. Upon the death of his brother, Henry, three years ago, all his near relatives passed away. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Pratt, is living in Barre and two nephews, Jesse and Edward. Mr. Pratt was a man who made friends, and he was loved by all who knew him. He was always interested in the affairs of the town, and his influence was respected.

He was 60 years of age last October, and was born on the same farm where he lived when death came, and had spent all his life in Berlin. His death was sudden. He hadn't felt right for some little time, but he did not consider that his condition was alarming in any way. Last Thursday, he was in Montpelier and transacted some business. He has had a hard cold for some time and called on a physician in that city to get some medicine on Thursday. He arose as usual Friday morning and ate his breakfast. At the close of the meal he complained of a pain in his chest and went and sat down on the sofa. He had a coughing spell, and died soon afterwards. The cause of death was laid to neuralgia of the heart.
